

CEF Success Story, Lyon-Turin: the biggest project of the TEN-T corridor

The new railway link Lyon-Turin, with the 57,5 km Mont Cenis base tunnel as its major component, is the main project of the whole TEN-T Mediterranean corridor. It is highly strategic because it is the main missing link in the corridor which aims at connecting south-western Europe with Central and Eastern European Countries. Failing this high-performance connection, transport relations would be hampered, especially for the trade between Spain, France and Italy and the trade between Spain, France and Italy and Central and Eastern Europe.
